The V-Drop Strike Indicator is an innovative strike detection system engineered to create a true 90-degree vertical drop, allowing your fly to reach the strike zone with maximum efficiency and a natural presentation. The unique design helps maintain a straight, vertical connection to your flies, making it ideal for nymphing deep runs, pockets, and technical water.

Constructed from ultra-lightweight materials, the V-Drop is easy to cast, highly sensitive, and quickly adjustable to match changing water depths without damaging your leader. Its camouflage-colored bottom blends into the underwater environment, helping reduce visibility to wary, pressured fish while maintaining excellent strike detection above the surface.

The secure screw-top design makes installation fast and dependable, ensuring the indicator stays in place throughout the day while allowing easy depth adjustments when conditions change. Designed by Hugh Williams, Ambassador pro guide of Solitude.

Features:

- Creates a true 90-degree vertical drop for optimal fly presentation
- Ultra-lightweight design for improved casting and sensitivity
- Easily adjustable for changing water depths
- Camouflage bottom helps conceal the indicator from pressured fish
